

"We have worked with DCL Security for 5 years and their service level is exactly what we need. They are focussed on constantly improving their security service to us and their staff are an integral part of the smooth operation of the depot"

Graeme Undy, Operations Director

Supporting our brand

Founded in the 1960's by Eddie Stobart, the Eddie Stobart brand is now one of the most recognised brands in the UK best known for its iconic Eddie Stobart trucks. With 2,200 units, over 3,200 trailers and over six million square feet of warehousing, Eddie Stobart is a major player in the transport and logistics sector. With 25,000 members in the Eddie Stobart Members Club, the Eddie Stobart brand has been named a British Superbrand for the past eight years.

When the Eddie Stobart team at Crick in Northampton were looking for a security service partner, they were well aware they needed to find a company they could trust to live up to their brand values. They chose DCL Security to provide Security Guards at their depot because of their expertise in depot security, their reputation for excellent customer focus and their flexible approach.

"Our depot is exceptionally busy and we need to know exactly which vehicles have arrived and departed at all times. Working with the DCL Security team means I know my depot security is their highest priority and I can focus on operational issues"

Graeme Undy, Operations Director
